“Rivers to the Gulf, Flowing Home!”

November 22, 2017

Dear EEAA Supporter:

The Environmental Education Association of Alabama (EEAA) will be hosting its annual conference “Rivers to the Gulf, Flowing Home” February 22 – 24, 2018 at Dauphin Island Sea Lab, Dauphin Island, Alabama. This conference has become an amazing gathering for teachers who incorporate environmental education (EE) into their classroom, as well as EE professionals from around the Southeast. It is the once a year opportunity for kindred spirits of the EE world to meet and share ideas!

EEAA would love to have your support this year as an exhibitor or sponsor. This is your chance to connect with teachers who are returning to their classrooms refreshed and inspired to share their new-found knowledge with their students and EE providers who reach thousands of contacts through educational programming. Whether you come to the conference and set up an exhibit about your organization or just help out with a sponsorship, we at EEAA greatly appreciate you!

There are several levels of support detailed on the Sponsor/Exhibitor Registration Site (at the bottom) online at <http://eeaa.us/2018-conference> . Please check the sponsorship level your organization desires. Sponsorship/Exhibitor payment can be made online by PayPal, by Purchase Order, or by check at the EEAA Conference Registration desk. We ask you to please have your Sponsor Registration in by February 1, 2018. So that you don't forget, just go ahead and register today <http://eeaa.us/2018-conference> . Remember, you will have to also make reservations for lodging yourself online if you are staying at the conference site.

We hope you have a marvelous year ahead. Please contact me with any question. I will be in touch with you as soon as I see you have registered as a sponsor or exhibitor. We'll see you at the Dauphin Island!

Sincerely,

Desirée Bishop
